

affect regulation is one of the most important goals of supportive psychotherapy.