Stress occurs in every part of our life.This is due to various factors such as increased pressure, competition, decreased resources, inadequate family support, exposed to violence through media and increased use of alcohol as well as drugs [27] In concord to this idea, this study reveals that majority of the College of Education students experience a moderate level of academic stress.Recent research reports show that the prevalence of stress is increasing among students.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com