

Although American exporters are not required to appoint a Saudi agent or distributor to Saudi companies, it is strongly recommended that all new-to-market U.S. Companies consider partnering with a local company for the purposes of monitoring business Opportunities, navigating import and standard testing regulations, and identifying public sector sales and contract opportunities.