

A Muslim can get rid of gossip through several means, including the following: Guard your tongue and stop following people's private parts. Increase the actions that lead to closeness to God.