

It has been argued that there are number of stakeholders for the tourism management, the industry has required the skills of the graduates who are prepared for the international market and in this regard, the international exposure could consider to be the plus point of the scenario so the need to develop the educational tourism with the academic perspective has just been increased because of the demand of the scenario.