

Increased user bandwidth demands (over 10x), driven by services like VoD, HDTV, and business applications, necessitate faster network architectures. Wireless networks like IEEE 802.11n require EPON backhaul for speeds exceeding 100Mbps per access point.