

Multimedia in education refers to the use of various digital tools and resources to enhance the learning experience. From interactive whiteboards to educational software and virtual simulations, multimedia tools allow students to visualize complex concepts, collaborate on projects, and engage more actively with course materials. These tools often combine text, images, audio, video, animations, and interactive content, creating a dynamic and engaging environment for learners.