

–The provisional measures taken by the security council shall be considered as advice to the parties to the conflict taken by the security council as advice provided to the parties to the conflict without prejudice to their legal positions.