

When the student has self-discipline, it gives the student a greater opportunity to expand resources.