

Causes and Risk Factors* The causes of eating disorders are multifaceted, involving a combination of genetic, psychological, and environmental factors. Psychological factors, such as low self-esteem, perfectionism, and trauma, also contribute to the onset of these disorders.