

In light of these results, the researcher made recommendations, including: establishing awareness and educational programs for people about getting married, activating the role of the media in spreading awareness of the dangers of family disintegration, especially its impact on increasing the crime rate, activating the role of family protection and community police in the security system to be a helpful member and friend of the family, and more efforts should be made by civil society organizations to raise the level of families' participation in positive community activities. The purpose of this research is to know the extent of the impact of family disintegration on crime in society, crime is born in society due to the deviant behavioral practices of society members, resulting from conditions that are often economic, social or psychological, given that the family is the cornerstone of society, and therefore when the family abandons its primary function towards its children due to many reasons that lead to their deviation from their correct path and the destruction of their being, this makes meeting their needs in all aspects very difficult , and this makes them feel inferior and deprived, which affects their personality and pushes them to deviate from the correct path, and thus fall into unfamiliar and contradictory criminal behaviors to social values in society, which appears through an increase in the rate of deviance in society as well as an increase in the rate of crime.