

To prevent microbial contamination without affecting the product's properties , After fulfilling the conditions, a good cosmetic product will be produced indicating the expiration dates and determining the validity of the product.