

the opportunity to seize two target markets. Because competitors struggle to retain a decent profit margin, it is difficult for them to provide the high-quality, low-cost food items. 1.2.