

space : The three-dimensional field in which objects and events occur and have relative position and direction, esp.