

Human resource management processes (HR operations) refer to the wide range of costs that go with managing employees in an organization.