Conclusion Dietary interventions have been underappreciated as a dermatological therapy in the past.Dermatologists must be well –educated and should apply their knowledge related to diet in counselling the patients appropriately.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com