The Linear Support Vector Classifier (Linear SVC) algorithm is a popular machine learning algorithm used for binary classification problems.Unlike traditional SVM, Linear SVC uses a linear kernel function to transform the data into a higher-dimensional space, making it easier to separate the data into two classes

Summarized by © lakhasly.com