

.Thus, they connect savers and spenders to facilitate transactions En the financial markets.They use the funds that customers provide, then distribute funds to individuals and businesses who need them.