

Samh seeds are rich in bioactive compounds, protein, essential amino acids, Minerals, and unsaturated fatty acids and could be considered a promising candidate for developing functional foods.