

It is widely accepted that one of the greatest achievements of the Apollo Moon programme was the view of the Earth from space.