

The patient without regard to their needs or condition