Constance is in love with Hastings.Here we have the classical ingredient of many a comedy: the struggle between the young and the old.Constance wants, naturally enough, to retain her fortune, and has a com- monsense approach to the jewels.Her mistake is in not inventing convincing material as she reads Hastings' letter to Tony.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com