

a low-energy Bluetooth device is located at each classroom. Identification number of the low-energy Bluetooth device and the name/number of the classroom that the device is located are matched and stored in a central database. Whenever an attendee enters a classroom, the smart device and its application interacts with the low-energy Bluetooth device.