

Client History Nurses play a significant role in acquiring the client history, including the specific mental and physical changes that have occurred and the age at which the changes began.