

The bylaws specified specific areas that are relevant to the objectives, but not within its mandate. These activities are: health, education, labor, media, sports, real estate, foreign and local investments, retail, industry, transportation, environment, water, agriculture, natural reserves, intellectual property, infrastructure, quarries, mining and social services, except for security fields.