

In conclusion, friendship plays a vital role in our lives. It affects our emotions, improves our mental health, and encourages personal growth.