

The Arabic language is one of the oldest languages, and it is one of the most important languages.