

I know that you love red roses very much, and I will continue to give you roses until you reassure me and we can stay together.