

Man needs to make some change in his life so that he can continue his life. Travel is one of the most important activity man do for amusement or enjoyment Today I will talk about a trip I made to (name of the place) accompanied by (companionship during the trip). We began to prepare for the trip, prepare the necessary equipments and booking with the tourism company that organizes this type of trips. I prepared food and drink for the trip. The food contained sandwiches, juices and dessert. He (who was with you) prepared entertainment and fun necessary during the trip. We contacted the tourism company one day before the trip day to confirm the date and place of the bus that will take us to the (trip destination). We woke up early in the morning and took our bags and went to the assembly point designated by the tourist company. The distance between the city where I live and the destination of the trip is (distance in km) km. The bus took (time period) to get to the place. On our way, we saw beautiful scenery and lots of amazing things. We passed through a mountainous area with many high volcanic mountains and the road was winding and difficult. The nature of the area was harsh and did not have many aspects of life due to the scarcity of water. It had only some Prickles and short plants
