

The necessity of creating an atmosphere of intimacy between the teacher and the children by making a timetable before joining the kindergarten institutions in which the teacher meets with the children.