

Many experts believe that the world is currently undergoing a major change: the fourth industrial revolution (Industry 4.0). A key aspect of industry 4.0, as outlined by Schwab (2016), is the fusion of technologies blurring the distinctions between the physical, digital and biological domains.