

This can be difficult for patients to adhere to and may limit their dietary choices.