The study involved 490 medical students, whose ages varied from 17 to 28 years old with a mean age of 22.71 .7 years. Table 4's analysis of the students' physical activity patterns shows that 291 ( $59.4 \%$ ) never engage in physically demanding activities, whereas 51 ( $10.4 \%$ ) do so four to seven days per week.

