

Depends on the point of view ? Some computers have little or no user interface, such as embedded computers in devices and automobiles. Users of dedicated systems such as workstations have dedicated resources but frequently use shared resources from servers ?