

Understanding the nutrient requirements of beef cattle is crucial for optimizing production and profitability. Adequate nutrition supports growth, maintenance, lactation, and reproduction.