

The United Arab Emirates has a large number of customs and traditions of its people, and the United Arab Emirates has preserved these customs and traditions since a long time, and many civilizations have contributed to the formation of the culture and civilization of this country.