

By adhering to these principles and working consistently, you will be able to build a successful and sustainable life.