

) – The simplicity, versatility, and rapidity of the shaping operations by which the raw polymer is transformed to useful objects.