

Water distillation is a process of purifying water by heating it to the point of vaporization (boiling), then cooling the vapor to condense it back into liquid form. The condensed water is collected as purified water.